

They Say . . .

They say I'm a dreamer and I am!
With dreams of sunsets Melting in pink young modesty
Of rainbows in the evening Of children being allowed to choose whether or not to grow up,
Of an Alice-in-Wonderland recipe for cookies that say "Be my friend"
And of two worlds touching Not simply in self but in soul.